EFFECT OF WAR TALK

GNLY PROFESSIONALS FIGURED IN STOCK TRADES YESTERDAY.

Tuesday's stock market fell slightly below Monday's record in point of activity, and was a purely professional affair. The debate at Washington over the Cuban unpleasantness again overhung the speculation, and the sharp talk by several of the Senators had a disturbing influence in Wall street. Apart from the Washington war talk another important consideration is responsible for the continued indisposition of the outside public to make ventures in the stock market. This is the uncertainty that as to the immediate course of the money and exchange markets. It is claimed that the present easy rates for call funds will. atinued, have the inevitable effect of lvancing exchange rates to the gold ship-ing point. There is reason to believe that o preclude such a development the Treasury Department will call a sufficient amount ney due to it on government bond account now lying in the bank government bond depositories to stiffen the money mar-ket. This, of course, would immediately affect exchange rates. The present speculaion in Wall street is being con ntirely on call loans. Incidentally these itions react on the market for compolized the attention of the de, and, as usual, the movements in se mercurial securities were erratic. Tosacco was again the star performer, and displayed exceptional activity and strength on buying for both accounts. An early spell of weakness. of %c, was succeeded by a sharp of %, to 75%. Cotton Oil, common, ad 1% and the preferred 2% per cent. on fairly good buying. Leather preferred, on the other hand, was affected by renewed lation, and exhibited no buoyancy. It ed at a net loss of 1% per cent. Boston was the largest seller. General Electric active within a narrow range, and ed unchanged. The recent bullish genued to be severe. Sugar occur negative position, only 2,400 being firm and fairly active. London quotations were slightly higher, although the business in Americans at that center is at a minimum. Advances of 4c in posted rates for sixty-day sterling bills failed to influence the market, and smart fractional advances occurred in Burlington, Denver & Rio Grande preferred and Missouri Pacific. The raid on Leather preferred caused a slight general break, but on the declaration of the regular quarterly dividends on Manhat-tan and Northwest preferred, and recomndation by the executive committee of the Western Union of the regularly quar-terly disbursement by the full board todvance in Manhattan of 114 per cent. The late dealings were quite irregular, as was the closing tone. Final figures showed fraconal changes, in most cases advances. Dealings in bonds were on a diminished otably in Northern Pacific. The aggregate transactions were $1,292,000. Government bonds were firm on a fairly susiness; the total sales were $136,900. State bonds were quiet. The dealings conthrees and Virginia centuries. The following table prepared by James E. Berry, Room 16, Board of Trade, shows scale, and a firm tone prevailed. Slight

WHEAT FELL OFF 1-2C

LOWER CABLES, WITH FINE CROP PROPECTS, WEAKENED PRICES.

Corn and Oats Were Steady and Unchanged, While Provisions Were Strong and Advanced.

CHICAGO, March 10 .- A government report day is never conducive to activity in the speculative grain markets and today, being one of them, business was quiet. That, however, did not prevent a decline of 1/2c per bushel in wheat. Corn and oats made scarcely any change in their price. Provisions opened at a good advance and closed with all the opening improvement and a shade added in ribs.

Wheat, which looked at the close yes terday as if it only needed a confirmation of the private cablegrams regarding the small exports last week to start in on a fresh advance, opened 40 below the previous day's closing price, although the desired confirmation confronted the traders before the session commenced. The weakest factor in the market was the lower cables. Notwithstanding the fact that this market advanced yesterday and had a firm closing, Liverpool came 14d lower, which was an unpleasant surprise to trade. That, accompanied by liberal receipts in the Northwest. amounting to 467 cars, and the most favorable weather possible for the winter wheat plant, caused the opening break and the weak feeling which characterized the trading during the first hour of the session. The only bull factor was the final confirmation of the light world's shipments last week, which are now officially reported at 6,657,000 bu, or about 700,000 bu below the estimated weekly consumption. But even this was sufficient to check the weak tendency. The expected government report of the stocks in farmers' hands had a tendency to limit the amount of business done, but there was evident discouragement on the part of holders and considerable liquidation resulted. Later in the day there was a resulted. Later in the day there was a rally reported in the Liverpool market and some improvement here followed. May opened ½c lower at 64%@65c, declined to 64½c, advanced to 64½c and back to 64½c. Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 1,685,000 bu in the visible east of the Rockies and a decrease in and afloat for Europe of 368,000 bu or a total decrease of 2,052,000 bu. That caused a stronger feeling and the market ruled steady during the remainder of the session, closing at 64%@65c.

Corn was very dull and fluctuations narrower, if possible, than yesterday. There was a fair cash demand and this, with the late recovery in wheat, gave some strength to the close. May opened 1/3c lower at 30%c and closed steady at 30%c.
Oats were rather heavy and though occasionally some activity was displayed, the neavy receipts had some weakening effect. May opened at 20%c, a trifle lower than yesterday's closing, and followed wheat fluctuations narrowly, closing at 20%c bld.

More activity was displayed by provisions than usual. The opening was strong and higher, influenced by the continued small hog receipts and with a good general demand and some packers buying prices were well maintained. At the close, pork showed an advance of 121/2c, lard .071/2c and ribs .10c. From a Broker's View Point. (Chicago Dispatch to O. H. Faught.) Wl ca:-The narrow range of fluctuation in prices of wheat to-day and all commodities influenced by wheat was attributed to the fact that trading was largely curtailed by a desire on the part of operators to await the government report on farm reserves, which was not given until 3 o'clock. The first in order in the speculative market was the failure of the expected strength to material the facility of the farm market was a strength to the facility of the facility terialize in the foreign markets, early cables coming weak and Northwest cars were sixty-eight more than on Tuesday last and 29 more than a year ago. These influence were evidenced in the opening prices, which were at a decline of 1/2c from last night's closing and immediately receded 4c more. The early buying was chiefly against puts. The continued weakness was partly due to a favorable State crop report from Michigan for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 p. m., and as stated in the first part of this letter March 10, 1896, as furnished by Theo. Stein, abstracter of titles, corner of Market and Pennsylvania streets, Indianapolis, Suite Television and gave a total of 6,671,000 instead of 9,500,000. Russia and America are about even with 2,500,000 bushels each. The Daily Trade Bulletin predicts that the government crop report will show 118,000,000 in farmers' hands. Prime says the winter wheat crop is short, late and backward and the monetary trust of New York advises the pur-chase of May wheat. Closing cables from Liverpool were of a much stronger tone, saying there was a splendid cash demand and market strong and higher. The local market firmed up toward the close on buy-ing by Armour, Cudahy and Linn. Some good sized lines were bought around 641/c. May wheat closed at opening figures and July at an advance of %c. Puts, 64%c; calls, 66c; curb, 65@65%c. Corn and Oats-It is estimated that the monetary trust has purchased 2,000,000 bu of May corn in Chicago yesterday and today. These markets were firm, but dull dur-ing the day and closed at about last night's 11%c.

Provisions-The commodities in this list are feeling the hog shortage which is so persistent that the crowd is at last being affected by it. Estimated hog receipts for the week are small and the higher prices offered to-day for all products is merely a forerunner of what we expect to see.

NOVEL SLEEPING CAR. Berths Drop Below Floor to Be Replaced by Chairs.

Chicago Post. There was on exhibition to-day, in the Van Buren-street depot of the Lake Shore and Rock Island roads, a new sleeping car which is a claimant for popular favor.
The car is now on its first trip. It arrived here over the Lake Shore road and will go out this evening over the Rock Island to Fort Worth. Its builder is the American Palace-car Company, of Boston, which be-lieves it has something very much superior to anything which has heretofore appeared in the sleeping-car line.

A complete departure from old methods has been taken in the construction of the car. Any one entering it in the daytime would have no idea he was in a sleeper, but would imagine himself in an elegant drawing-room chair car, the floor space be-ing taken up entirely with high-backed, movable rattan chairs, or with chairs of different shapes and styles, reclining chairs, sofas and tete-a-tetes. At night a perfect spring bed for the lower berth, as well as the upper, is produced from the lower regions of the car, to which place the chairs are then consigned until they are required for use again the next day. At one end of the car is a large observa-tion apartment, which can be utilized by the gentlemen passengers as a smoking room. Between this and the main apartment of the car are very spacious and elegantly fitted ladies' lavatories and dressing rooms. Then comes the main apartment, which is a regular ten-section sleeping car. At the the kitchen, fitted up with all the latest Occupanis of upper berths will be particu-larly pleased with the change of construction, which has been introduced. The windows extend ten inches above the upper berth, so that its occupant has the same opportunities for light, air and observation as those herelocore thomopolized by the occupant of the lower berth. Between the two berths there NEW YORK, March 10.—Pig iron quiet; is an extra eight inches of space, which ensouthern, $12.50@13.25; Northern, $11.50@13.50.

Another great improvement claimed for the new sayle cor is that it will be the smooth est canner ever known. The upper berth us used in the present style is hinged to the sales of the car, thus forcing the stengthening of the sides and roof with heavy timbers and extra iron work. The re-salt is a topheavy car with a disagreeable salinging or side motion, particularly annoy-ing on roads with sharp curves. In the new car the entire weight of both berths with their contents is placed directly on the floor timbers, so that the upper work can be consmooth and easy riding motion.

Secretary Weinsheimer, of the Pullman Car Company, on being told of the arrival of the new car in Chicago, said he had heard of the new company and of the most striking features of the new car. He did not think, features of the new car. He did not think, however, it would prove a very formidable rival of the existing companies. It would be necessary for it not only to have a fine car, but roads over which to run it. As yet he had not heard of the company making inroads on the fields occupied by the old com-

PARALLELS, NOT DUPLICATES.

Points of Resemblance Between the Abolition and Prohibition Parties.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal:

and groups of events often travel in lines

so nearly parallel that it seems to. A short History never repeats itself, but events

time ago the Journal called attention to the remarkable similarity between the old Abolition party and the present Prohibition party, and gave some striking points of resemblance, but it omitted some of the most striking. Their origins were quite identical. They each grew out of a giant wrong whose greatest ravages were in the moral field, though fearfully devastating in the social and material; hence each found its supporters chiefly, if not exclusively, among men of profound moral convictions, The backbone of the Abolition party were the preachers of its period; never very many nor very distinguished in their calling, but enough to give the movement a semi-religious coloring. In this respect the parallelism is complete. Now, it is no disparagement to the profession as a whole to say that from the beginning there have been preachers quite lacking in tact. They so live, as it were, in the empyrean that it is the easiest thing in the world to sell them a chuck steak for a sirloin, hence it is not uncommon that their wives have to do the marketing and attend wholly to such worldly matters. They get an idea of right in the abstract, and they apply it severely to everything. They would scorn being politic. Having conceived their ideal, they march straight at it, though the heavens fall. But these constitute, after ail, but an insignificant fraction of the profession; but they make up, in some degree, their lack in numbers by their noisy declarations, and especially by their relentless criticism of their brethren in the ministry who choose to apply a little worldy wisdom to worldly affairs, and especially to politics. It was so in the beginning. If Peter had been living in the middle of this century he would have joined the Abolition party at the beginning, though he would have left it as soon as he saw his mistake; but he would hardly join the Prohibition party after his experience in the former. On the other hand, Paul was a politician He was crafty, and, when necessary, he ence was a success. would scorn to do a wrong thing, but he was ready to use worldly wisdom even in his ministerial duties. He beat an inglorious retreat at one time, being let down from his upper room in a basket. He could face a mob, or run from one, as seem best at the time. Any one who ever heard a Prohibition party preacher berate a brother preacher because he prefers to work with the Good Citizens to get what he can rather than to work for prob tion and getting nothing can easily imagine how Peter abused Paul in that rather un-brotherly interview which is barely men-tioned in the history of their times. That is the way the Abolition party preachers did in their time, hence here is another parallel. But there is even a more striking parallel than these. A combination of favorable conditions gave the party a boom in 1848 and it received 19 per cent. of the popular vote; but the practical men of the party saw at once that getting only 10 per cent. under such circumstances meant to never get a majority, hence more than half of them never gain voted the ticket, so that in 1852 the party got less than 4 per cent. of the popular vote. This opened the eyes of still more, so that the Julians, and the Giddingses, and the Lovejoys, and the Hales of the period "joined hands with the Mortons, the Lincolns, the Greeleys and the Stantons in a good citizens' movement to do what they could to cripple and regulate what they could not destroy, on a platform which promised protection to shavery where it existed, but which proposed to limit and control it, letting their ultimate purpose abide the logic of events. That they were wise in this is seen in the fact that in less than ten years there was not a slave in America. not a slave in America. Almost identical with this has been the history of the Pro-hibition party. Good men and true supposed that so great a wrong as the saloon could easily command a majority of the votes, so that when, in 1886, there was a great increase, the overzealous ones pre-dicted a majority in less than a decade, but thoughtful men saw at once that there was no possibility for that, and by the thousands they looked to some other method, being willing to join hands in a good citizens' movement, even with those who believe the saloon has a right to exist under proper restrictions, leaving its utter overthrow to the logic of events, without abating one jot of their ultimate purpose to probabit it entirely. The parallel in this respect is wonderful. Any one who attended the late State convention could not fail to notice the absence of the honored leaders of former years. They have given up the hope of accomplishing prohibition through a party, or by direct attack, hence they were not here, having enlisted in the Good Citizens' movement, which has closed more saloons in six months than the Prohibition party ever closed, for it has never closed one. Indeed, prohibition was hardly mentioned except in a perfunctory manner. I did not hear Mr. St. John mention it once in his long and loud speech. That speech and the whole proceedings seemed only an effort to provide a burying place for the defunct party within the capacious bowels.

defunct party within the capacious bowels of the free silver party.

But in still another feature the parallel is remarkable. The Journal was right in saying that the vituperation of the old Abolition party never won a convert to its cause, as the bitterness of the Prohibition party has driven many former friends away, attracting none in their place, but when it says the old Abolition party was to prevent his election, being entirely will-ing and seeming to prefer that the Democratic party, the avowed friend of slavery, should succeed. Though the brains of the party had left it to help restrict slavery, the remains kept up the party till the poli-cy of the Good Citizens' movement had abolished slavery—all the time claiming to be the only anti-slavery men on earth—and then, when the work was finished, they were the loudest in claiming to have done it. How completely that party, in its dying hour, paralleled the present decaying and departing Prohibition party need not be told. None can fail to see, and it is already evident that when it shall have gone to the grave and prohibition shall have become an accomplished fact, its latest friends will claim that the Prohibition party "done it." Peffer's Prattle. Senator Peffer, Populist, stops introducing financial bills and resolutions and discussing the same long enough to predict a sweeping Republican victory this year.
He believes that the Populist party will poll the second largest number of votes, while the Democrats will be a bad third.
He says the Populist propaganda is bearing good results, but that Populist success will not come until 1900. He does not think the Populists will combine with the silver party this year unless the latter shall agree to accept the Populist name. If a combination is formed of the silverites and Populists their presidential ticket, he says, will carry the two Carolinas, Alabama, Arkansas, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Nevada and Colorado. The Populists themselves, he says, can easily carry Texas, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. He thinks the combination might also carry Tennessee, while he asserts the Democrata will not secure the electoral vote of a Washington Special. Tennessee, while he asserts the Democrata will not secure the electoral vote of a Southern State, with the possible exception of Virginia. He thinks it not unlikely that with three tickets in the field, and with a strong money influence in both States, Louisiana and Kentucky might go Republican. Senator Peffer says the Populist convention will be held at St. Louis July 22. He has no idea whom they will nominate, but he personally favors the present Governor of Nebraska, Mr. Holcomb.
